

Open Communities is the Independent Resident Adviser for the review of future options for the management of council homes and estates in Islington.

Our role is to offer independent advice to Islington council tenants, leaseholders and freeholders about the review conducted by the Council. Our specialist and experienced staff are here to offer you an independent point of view and a greater degree of clarity about issues surrounding the review.

Open Communities will:

engage residents in the consultation process find out what residents want from their housing management service help residents to understand how different options might affect the way their homes are managed explain how wider issues such as welfare reform and localism might affect homes in future support residents to understand the assessment of costs for different housing management models make sure the process is fair and open and residents influence the outcome feedback to the council to let them know what residents think about the review and the different options

Open Communities is an independent, national, accredited training and advisory service which specialises in working with social housing communities in times of change.

We are an experienced Independent Tenants and Leaseholders Adviser.
